CRAIG POTTON NEW ZEALAND

Craig Potton rose to prominence as a photographer in the late 1980s, with a distinct and original view of the landscape of Aotearoa. He was a photographer with little interest in a sentimentalised or romantic view of the land, but rather pursued a less compromising and more muscular vision that sought to convey this country's remarkable landscape in a real light.

Craig Potton has become one of New Zealand's most distinguished landscape photographers, famous for his moody, often dramatic images that signal a deeply felt connection with the wild parts of New Zealand.

This book collects many of his most celebrated images in one place. The images range from his celebrated aerial photography, especially that of the Southern Alps and Fiordland, and of the volcanoes of the Central North Island, his beautifully composed and complex forest interiors, his gentle seascapes, and those from the rural parts of New Zealand.

NEW ZEALAND: EYE ON THE LANDSCAPE

The distinguishing feature of this book is that the images used will not be the work of one photographer, but rather a collection of the best images from a wide range of landscape photographers.

The inspiration for this concept has been the extraordinary work that is exhibited by members of the Photographic Society of New Zealand. The majority of photographs created by their members is hardly seen and never published. The best of it, however, is of the highest quality and often provides a fresh and original view of a much-photographed country.

Treaty of Waitangi | Te Tiriti o Waitangi

Claudia Orange's writing on the Treaty of Waitangi has played a central role in national understanding of this foundational document. This fully revised and updated edition (previously entitled An Illustrated History of the Treaty of Waitangi) brings the Treaty's history to life with a richly informative narrative and a wonderful range of photographs, maps and illustrations.

The Treaty of Waitangi | Te Tiriti o Waitangi takes the narrative into the twenty-first century, with a new chapter recounting the Treaty history of the last ten years, covering major developments such as the Tuhoe settlement, territory 'personhood', and issues around intellectual property and language. Presented in full colour for the first time, the new edition also presents a fresh visual narrative, drawing on the range of images now emerging in work such as the He Tohu and Waitangi Museum exhibitions (in which Dr Orange was closely involved).

Claudia Orange is the Practice Leader Research at the Museum of New Zealand Te Papa Tongarewa, having previously headed the museum's History and Pacific Cultures section.

She was General Editor of the multi-volume, award-winning Dictionary of New Zealand Biography from 1990 to 2003. She was also Acting Chief Historian from 1997 to 2000 in the History Group of the Department of Internal Affairs, and then 2002-2003 was Senior Historian in Te Ara, the online Encyclopedia of New Zealand in the Ministry for Culture and Heritage.

She has produced several works on the Treaty of Waitangi – from the award-winning Treaty of Waitangi (1987) to An Illustrated History of the Treaty of Waitangi (2004). She has written widely on early New Zealand history and on twentieth century race relations, and was foundation chair of the National Oral History Association of New Zealand (NOHANZ).

Dr Claudia Orange was appointed the OBE in 1993, received the University of Auckland's Distinguished Alumni Award in 1997, and was awarded the honour of Distinguished Companion of the Order of New Zealand in 2009.

MOMENT & MEMORY | CRAIG POTTON

Craig Potton rose to prominence as a photographer in the late 1980s, with a distinct and original view of the landscape of New Zealand. In the decades since, Craig Potton has become one of New Zealand's most distinguished landscape photographers, famous for his atmospheric, often dramatic images that signal a deeply felt connection with the wild places of New Zealand.

This revised edition of Moment & Memory contains a collection of Craig's finest photographs, personally selected to give a unique view of the New Zealand wilderness. The images range from lush, intense forest interiors and sweeping seascapes to his famous brooding and powerful images of Milford Sound. The photographs are accompanied by a series of reflective essays and writings that offer insights into the impulses, influences and philosophies that underpin his life and approach to photography, and express his concerns about the ongoing threats to wild nature. Printed using the latest technology to give the most accurate reproduction of Craig's photographs, Moment & Memory is a significant book for those with an appreciation of fine photography and a love of New Zealand's landscape.

LINE-UP: NEW ZEALAND SURF PHOTOGRAPHY

Regarded internationally as one of the surfing world's top line-up surf photographers, Logan Murray has had a long New Zealand career spanning five decades. Line-up is his second book, and features his best contemporary work, stunning images for the surfing connoisseur of perfect New Zealand waves. These photographs come from Murray's home patch on the east coast of the North Island, as well as the Bay of Plenty and Coromandel, though their appeal is universal. Many of these images have been cover shots or double-page spreads for the world's most prestigious surf publications. Publicity-shy, Logan Murray remains an enigma to many New Zealand surfers, but he has never stopped writing stories and taking photographs of amazing waves in pristine New Zealand locations.

NEW ZEALAND LANDSCAPES NORTHLAND TO ANTARCTICA

Voted one of the top five places to visit in the world by Lonely Planet, the geographical diversity and startling beauty of New Zealand lures photographers and film makers as well as tourists. "If locations were awarded Oscars, New Zealand would scoop the lot," as a movie reviewer remarked.

This book is a photographic celebration of that diverse and very often impressive landscape. Grant Sheehan has recorded his own camera views from Northland to Stewart Island and beyond, to New Zealand's Antarctic territory and her islands in the Southern Ocean. From the road, from the air and at sea, the tranquillity and scope of open often remote spaces are captured. The scenery and wildlife shown here underlines why New Zealand is consistently on the global 'must-see' list.

And as an extra dimension, the images have been given a striking soundtrack by musician Rhian Sheehan. The CD is included on the facing page.

Includes Music CD, eight tracks, 40 minutes duration, written especially for the book by New Zealand composer Rhian Sheehan.

EYE IN THE SKY: A DRONE ABOVE NEW ZEALAND

Photographer and publisher Grant Sheehan has been captivated with aerial photography for many years. Drone photography is an obvious next step and he started exploring possibilities as soon as the camera technology caught up with the remote-controlled drone.

This book explores the country from the air — ranging from 10ft to 400ft — in a way that is both unique and compelling; from wide elevated vistas of landscapes and land forms, to close intimate portraits of buildings and textures that conventional aircraft would struggle to capture. The first of its kind in New Zealand, this book adds an extra dimension to the idea of the classic New Zealand photo book appealing to a wide range of tastes, from those interested in both aerial and drone photography, tourists, lovers of landscape and to those keen to see New Zealand in a new way.

Each photograph is accompanied by the height and GPS location of where it was taken.

SEEKING THE LIGHT Climbing All 24 of New Zealand's Highest Mountains

'Seeking the Light' is the story of climbing New Zealand's 24 highest mountains, those peaks in the Southern Alps/Ka Tiritiri o te Moana that rise above 3000 metres. Written by Wanaka-based Mountain guide and adventure photographer Gavin Lang, the account of each climb is illustrated with his breathtaking, world-class imagery. Inspiring and exhilarating, each individual story captures the tension and drama of mountaineering in Aotearoa but then is vividly brought to life with Gavin's outstanding photography. 'Seeking the Light' is a beautiful and original contribution to our mountain literature, a must-read for anyone with a love for wild high places.

BADGES

These are great to carry in your pocket for those unexpected moments when you require a small gift.

These are ideal to wear when welcoming or visiting people from a different country. We hear stories of how people have had to take off their badge and give it to people they are visiting – so it is a good idea to have some “tucked in your pocket” to give out.
